

Lecturer in Psychology Job #12252, Arizona State University, Tempe Campus.

The Department of Psychology (www.asu.edu/clas/psych) invites applications for a full-time nine month Lecturer with an anticipated start date of August 2018. This is a full-time, benefits-eligible, non-tenure eligible position renewable on an academic year basis (August 16th to May 15th) contingent upon satisfactory performance, availability of resources, and the needs of the university.

The successful candidate will be expected to teach four sections per semester at the undergraduate level in the Psychology Department. Assigned courses will include one or more foundational courses (Introduction to Psychology, Introduction to Statistics, and Research Methods), along with one or more upper division breadth courses in the candidate's area. The successful candidate will join an active, committed group of teaching faculty in delivering high quality undergraduate courses, and will be expected to participate in service to the university and profession as appropriate. Lecturer positions include the potential for promotion within the lecturer ranks, and opportunities for summer teaching.

The requirements for this position include: (1) Ph.D. in Psychology (or closely related discipline) by the time of appointment; (2) 1-2 years of undergraduate teaching experience; (3) and familiarity with "best practices" in undergraduate education.

Desired qualifications include: (1) Training in and experience teaching Physiological Psychology (or related courses with neuroscience content) ; (2) experience with multiple teaching modalities (including online instruction); (3) professional engagement with students in and out of the classroom; (4) Demonstrated success meeting the needs of diverse student populations and/or reaching out to diverse communities. Applicants are expected to give a teaching demonstration if invited to interview.

To apply, please submit the following as PDF(s) to PSYLecturerJobs@asu.edu: (a) a letter of application; (b) curriculum vitae or resume; (c) statement of teaching philosophy and; (d) syllabi and course-related material (including evaluations) for no more than two courses you have taught. Applicants must also arrange to have three letters of recommendation sent to PSYLecturerJobs@asu.edu. Inquiries concerning the search should be addressed to the Chair of the Search Committee, Clark Presson, at PSYLecturerJobs@asu.edu.

Initial deadline for receipt of complete applications is January 25, 2018; if not filled, review of complete applications will continue every week thereafter until the search is closed. A background check is required for employment.

Arizona State University is located in the Phoenix/Scottsdale metropolitan area. Arizona State University and the Department of Psychology encourage and support diversity among applicants and employees.

Arizona State University is a VEVRAA Federal Contractor and an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will be considered without regard to race, color, sex, religion, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other basis protected by law. ASU's full non-discrimination statement (ACD 401) is located on the ASU website at <https://www.asu.edu/aad/manuals/acd/acd401html> and <https://www.asu.edu/titleIX>.